

What is the NCCA?

The NCCA is an organization of professional life and business coaches from northern Colorado, including the towns of Fort Collins, Greeley, Loveland, LaPorte, Wellington, and Windsor.

The NCCA is a chartered chapter of the International Coach Federation (ICF), a leading organization for professional coaches boasting more than 11,000 members in 80 countries.

NCCA Purpose

To come together as professional coaches, synergistically fostering relationships that encourage growth in ourselves and others.

The NCCA is committed to the professional development of its members, advancement of the coaching profession, and promotion of coaching within Northern Colorado.

NCCA Services

The NCCA offers workshops and presentations with a coaching paradigm. Participants profit by acquiring new perspectives, information, tools and support.

Why Engage a Professional Coach?

Because you want more ...

... from yourself, life, work, business, spirituality, health, relationships ...

As a client, you are ready to embrace a more successful, rewarding and fulfilling life. You are willing and able to use the synergy of coaching to achieve your goals.

Your coach is committed to making it easier for you to be and do your best, producing amazing results in your personal, career or business life.

Your coach is your confidant, advocate, champion, mentor, challenger, supporter, and accountability partner. You are empowered to realize and manifest your talents, and to move quickly from challenges to solutions to achieve innovative outcomes.

Coaching addresses the whole person, deepens your learning, improves your performance and enhances the quality of your life - in any or all of its dimensions.

Coaching promotes:

- Discovery and clarification of goals
- Generation of ideas and strategies
- Transforming intentions into actions
- Responsibility and accountability
- Accomplishment
- Greater focus and awareness of opportunities and choices.
